

MICHAEL CLARK

Michael Clark is a contemporary impressionist painter known for his ability to capture light, color, and atmosphere in the landscapes of the American West. Born in 1982 and raised in Traverse City, Michigan, Clark earned his Bachelor of Fine Arts in Painting from Kendall College of Art and Design. He furthered his training at the Palette and Chisel Academy of Fine Art in Chicago and the Art Students League in Denver.

Clark's work is inspired by the natural beauty surrounding his home in Salida, Colorado, particularly aspen groves and mountain landscapes. Through expressive brushwork and a vibrant palette, he translates fleeting moments of light into dynamic compositions.

A nationally recognized, award-winning artist, Clark has been featured in Southwest Art magazine and is a Signature Member of the American Impressionist Society. His paintings reflect a deep connection to place and the enduring beauty of the Western landscape.
